BEST PRACTICE

DISTRIBUTION OF SAPLINGS 2020-2021

TITLE: Distribution of the saplings for the public

Objectives: The practice has been effectively implemented for the public with the following objectives

- Environmental awareness
- Bio diversity conservation
- Green spaces enhancement
- Climate change moderation

Context: In the wake of severe Global warming, planting saplings is not only beneficial to the environment but also like an investment for the future generations.

Practice: This program not only creates an awareness among the public, the need for planting saplings but also ways of protecting endangered species and medicinal plants, their care and cultivation and educating them about the implementation of sustainable harvesting practices, and on how to collaborate with forest department and other relevant organizations for guidance.

Evidence Of Success: Each year the students have actively participated in organizing this program with much enthusiasm.

This program has promoted the active participation of the public in the preservation of botanical resources
